

FRANKFORT RORNDABOUT.

The body of an Irish tailor by the name of Patrick Walsh was found on Tuesday morning floating in the river just below the wharf-boat. Coroner McEwan was notified, and took charge of the body, and held an inquest, the jury returning a verdict of accidental drowning. The deceased had been in the employ of Messrs. Crutcher & Starks for some two years or more, and was esteemed a good workman. The last seen of him was on last Saturday evening. He was a single man, and had no relatives in this section of country so far as known. He was buried in the cemetery on Tuesday evening.

The circuit court for this county commenced its session on Monday last, Judge P. U. Major presiding. There is a large docket, especially on the criminal calendar. The following gentlemen compose the grand jury of the present term:

Jos. L. Rodman, foreman, Ben. Hughes, Wm. Cardwell, Jackson Hulet, Elias Stone, Llewellyn Marshall, Lloyd Featherstone, S. M. Noel, Joseph Parrent, Henry Rogers, Stephen Black, Daniel Glanton, Thomas Bedford, L. F. Noel, L. J. Cox, W. P. Hudson. Let evil-doers remember that the day of reckoning is not far off.

The thirty-third anniversary of the General Christian Missionary Convention, together with the State Convention of that denomination, have been in session at Lexington this week. Elder George Darrie, of this city, and Elder B. B. Tyler, of Louisville, are prominent members.

Mr. John L. Sneed, of this city, and Miss Fronie Lee, of Louisville, were married at Calvary Church, in the latter city, on Wednesday. Mr. Sneed is too well known in this city for us to add anything to his deserved reputation as a business man and gentleman. Of his wife we hear only words of praise and compliment. "Here's to you, Jack, may you live long and prosper."

In W. H. N.'s notice, in yesterday's Courier-Journal, of the Carr-McKee wedding, the statement is made that the groom is a practical printer and an employee of this office. This is a mistake. Mr. Carr is a farmer, but has been a subscriber for the RORNDABOUT for several years and generally drops in to see us when in town. Your informant was considerably off, Bro. Billie.

The delegates to the Grand Lodge of Masons of Kentucky have all returned home, and report that they had the boss time, and saw the elephant in all its majesty.

The cool weather yesterday morning made fires and overcoats feel very comfortable.

Captain D. A. Murphy, editor of the Danville Tribune, has been appointed superintendent of the building of the new courthouse and post-office in this city.

If you wish a comfortable seat at the Opera House, for to-night, go and secure one early. There will be a grand rush.

To the Bereaved Parents of Philip Smith

BY L. H. NEWMAN.

Your Philip dear has left you—
Nothing comes but soothing tears
Up from parents' hearts so true
Till your pain is lulled by years.
The Great Ruler of all expense
Gives one law of recompense:
Pleasure must pay tax to pain,
And pain restore to hope again.

There is sweet joy in sorrow;
There is a balm for every pain;
There's a beautiful to-morrow
Of sunshine after rain.
You'll find a branch of healing
Near every bitter spring;
A whispered promise stealing
O'er every broken string.

You'll find a glad hosanna
For every woe and wail—
A handful of sweet manna
When grapes of Eschol fail.
Seek for the Rock of Ages
When earthly wells are dry,
And, after weary stages,
You will find an Elm high.

An Elm with its coolness,
Its fountains, and its shades,
A blessing in its fullness
When your buds of promise fade.
Your tears of soft contrition
Will cause a rainbow light,
Bring glory and fruition
So near, yet out of sight.

Your Savior, you possessing,
Will be your joy, your balm,
Your healing and your blessing,
Your sunshine and your psalm;
Your promise when you're fearful,
Your Elm when you're faint,
Your rainbow when you're tearful,
Your glory when a saint.

J. K. Hedrick, Esq., of Elmville, was granted a divorce from his wife, Mrs. Katy Hedrick, on Thursday last, by Judge Major. His many friends will be gratified to learn of this result.

Elmville.

The series of meetings, conducted at Mt. Vernon Church, by Revs. Cobb and Burton, closed on the 18th inst., with eight additions by baptism and seven by letter.

Mr. Lucas Read, one of Owen's brightest young men, spent several days last week with the family of J. W. Bridges, two miles west of this place.

Competent judges said that Mr. J. W. Bridges and Miss Annie Wiley were the best looking couple at Mt. Vernon Church Sunday. The crowd numbered eight hundred, with folks from all parts.

The series of meetings going on at Minorsville, Scott county, conducted by the Rev. Ellicott, has resulted in five additions, and great good to the congregation.

Mr. Spencer O. Wigginton, after a protracted visit to friends in the West, has returned home, and there is one more heart, happy.

On the 14th inst., at Monterey, after the day was almost spent without any difficulty, Mr. Jack Barber and W. H. Smith got into an altercation, when Barber drew his knife and cut the artery in Smith's neck. It is said that Smith will die. Barber is still at large.

The Graves boys and Hensleys had a fight at Stamping Ground on the 14th inst., when one of the Graves boys shot and broke old man Hensley's leg in the knee, when the Hensley boys cut Graves almost to pieces.

The Misses Stafford, of Peak's Mill, spent last Sunday with Miss Annie Wiley, near this place.

Miss Belle Hall spent several days last week with Miss Ella Hall, two miles west of this place.

There were several of Owen's young belles who attended church at Mt. Vernon Sunday.

Mr. S. N. Hodges failed to put in his appearance Sunday evening at Mt. Vernon Church, and the congregation was sadly disappointed.

Mr. Mullen, of Monterey, spent several days last week with the family of P. L. Howard, one mile west of this place.

Madam Rumer says Elmville will soon have a wedding.

Everybody wants to see Jack Frost.

Our school has been closed now for several weeks, owing to the protracted meeting at Mt. Vernon.

Mr. Editor, will you or some of your readers, inform us folks in this, the northern portion of the county, if there is any such officer as Common School Commissioner, and what his duties are? We have had eight schools taught here, in that many years, with not less than five months in a school, and today we haven't a scholar qualified to work half through Ray's third part. Who is to blame? We can't, or will not, say; but we can say that our school is of no use at all, and we would do well, if there is a Common School Commissioner, to have him advertise when he will visit our school, known as the Poe school-house, and see for himself that our school teachers have been a failure. So far as our children are concerned, they are intelligent, and the blame is not here. J. K. H.

THE FLOWER CITY FURORE!

The Commotion Caused by the Statement of a Physician.

An unusual article from the Rochester, N. Y., Democrat and Chronicle, was published in this paper recently, and has been the subject of much conversation, both in professional circles and on the street. Apparently it caused more commotion in Rochester, as the following from the same paper shows:

Dr. J. B. Henion, who is well known not only in Rochester, but in nearly every part of America, sent an extended article to this paper a few days since, which was duly published, detailing his remarkable experience and rescue from what seemed to be certain death. It would be impossible to enumerate the personal inquiries which have been made at our office as to the validity of the article, but they have been so numerous that further investigation of the subject was deemed an editorial necessity.

With this end in view a representative of this paper called on Dr. Henion, at his residence on St. Paul street, when the following interview occurred:

"That article of yours, Doctor, has created quite a whirlwind. Are the statements about the terrible condition you were in, and the way you were rescued such as you can sustain?"

"Every one of them, and many additional ones. Few people ever get so near the grave as I did and then return, and I am not surprised that the public think it marvelous. It was marvelous."

"How in the world did you, a physician, come to be brought so low?"

"By neglecting the first and most simple symptoms. I did not think I was sick. It is true I had frequent headaches; felt tired most of the time; could eat nothing one day and was ravenous the next; felt dull indefinite pains, and my stomach was out of order, but I did not think it meant anything serious."

"But have these common ailments anything to do with the fearful Bright's disease, which took so firm a hold on you?"

"Anything? Why, they are the sure indications of the first stages of that dreadful malady. The fact is, few people know or realize what ails them, and I am sorry to say that too few physicians do either."

"That is a strange statement, Doctor."

"But it is a true one. The medical profession have been treating symptoms instead of diseases for years, and it is high time it ceased. We doctors have been clipping off the twigs when we should strike at the root. The symptoms I have just mentioned, or any unusual action or irritation of the water channels indicate the approach of Bright's disease even more than a cough announces the coming of consumption. We do not treat the cough, but try to help the lungs. We should not waste our time trying to relieve the headache, stomach, pains about the body or other symptoms, but go directly to the kidneys, the source of most of these ailments."

"This, then, is what you meant when you said that more than one-half the deaths which occur arise from Bright's disease, is it doctor?"

"Precisely. Thousands of so-called diseases are torturing people to-day, when in reality it is Bright's disease in some of its many forms. It is a Hydra-headed monster, and the slightest symptoms should strike terror to every one who has them. I can look back and recall hundreds of deaths which physicians declared at the time were caused by paralysis, apoplexy, heart disease, pneumonia, malarial fever, and other common complaints, which I see now were caused by Bright's disease."

"And did all these cases have simple symptoms at first?"

"Every one of them, and might have been cured as I was by the timely use of the same remedy—Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. I am getting my eyes thoroughly opened in this matter, and think I am helping others to see the facts and their possible danger also. Why, there are no end of truths bearing on this subject. If you want to know more about it go and see Mr. Warner himself. He was sick the same as I, and is the healthiest man in Rochester to-day. He has made a study of this subject, and can give you more facts than I can. Go, too, and see Dr. Lattimore, the chemist, at the University. If you want facts there are any quantity of them showing the alarming increase of Bright's disease, its simple and deceptive symptoms, and that there is but one way by which it can be escaped."

Fully satisfied of the truth and force of the Doctor's words, the reporter bade him good day, and called on Mr. Warner at his establishment on Exchange street. At first Mr. Warner was inclined to be reticent, but learning that the information desired was about the alarming increase of Bright's disease, his manner changed instantly, and he spoke very earnestly:

"It is true that Bright's disease has increased wonderfully, and we find, by reliable statistics, that in the past ten years its growth has been 250 per cent. Look at the prominent men it has carried off: Everett, Sumner, Chase, Wilson, Carpenter, Bishop Haven and others. This is terrible, and shows a greater growth than that of any other known complaint. It should be plain to every one that something must be done to check this increase or there is no knowing where it may end."

"Do you think many people are afflicted with it to-day who do not realize it, Mr. Warner?"

"Hundreds of thousands. I have a striking example of this truth which has just come to my notice. A prominent professor in a New Orleans medical college was lecturing before his class on the subject of Bright's disease. He had various fluids under microscopic analysis, and was showing the students what the indications of this terrible malady were. In order to show the contrast between healthy and unhealthy fluids, he had provided a vial, the contents of which were drawn from his own person. 'And now gentlemen,' he said, 'as we have seen the unhealthy indications, I will show you how it appears in a state of perfect health,' and he submitted his own fluid to the usual test. As he watched the results his countenance suddenly changed—his color and command both left him, and in a trembling voice said: 'Gentlemen, I have made a painful discovery: I have Bright's disease of the kidneys,' and in less than a year he was dead."

"You believe then that it has no symptoms of its own and is frequently unknown even by the person who is afflicted with it?"

"It has no symptoms of its own and, very often none at all. Usually no two people have the same symptoms, and frequently death is the first symptom. The slightest indications of any kidney difficulty should be enough to strike terror to any one. I know what I am talking about, for I have been through all the stages of kidney disease."

"You know of Dr. Henion's case?"

"Yes, I have both read and heard of it."

"It is very wonderful, is it not?"

"A very prominent case but no more so than a great many others that have come to my notice as having been cured by the same means."

"You believe then that Bright's disease can be cured?"

"I know it can. I know it from the experience of hundreds of prominent persons who were given up to die by both their physicians and friends."

"You speak of your own experience, what was it?"

"A fearful one. I had felt languid and unfitted for business for years. But I did not know what ailed me. When, however, I found it was kidney difficulty I thought there was little hope and so did the doctors. I have since learned that one of the physicians of this city pointed me out to a gentleman on the street one day saying: 'there goes a man who will be dead within a year.' I believe his words would have proven true if I had not fortunately secured and used the remedy now known as Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure."

"And this caused you to manufacture it?"

"No it caused me to investigate. I went to the principal cities, saw physicians prescribing and using it and I therefore determined, as a duty I owed humanity and the suffering, to bring it within their reach and now it is known in every part of America, is sold in every drug store, and has become a household necessity."

The reporter left Mr. Warner, much impressed with the earnestness and sincerity of his statements and next paid a visit to Dr. S. A. Lattimore at his residence on Prince street. Dr. Lattimore, although busily engaged upon some matters connected with the State Board of Health, of which he is one of the analysts, courteously answered the questions that were propounded him:

"Did you make a chemical analysis of the case of Mr. H. H. Warner some three years ago, Doctor?"

"Yes, sir."

"What did this analysis show you?"

"The presence of albumen and tube casts in great abundance."

"And what did the symptoms indicate?"

"A serious disease of the kidneys."

"Did you think Mr. Warner could recover?"

"No, sir. I did not think it possible. It was seldom, indeed, that so pronounced a case had, up to that time, ever been cured."

"Do you know anything about the remedy which cured him?"

"Yes, I have chemically analyzed it, and, upon critical examination, find it entirely free from any poisonous or deleterious substances."

We publish the foregoing statements in view of the commotion which the publicity of Dr. Henion's article has caused, and to meet the protestations which have been made. The standing of Dr. Henion, Mr. Warner, and Dr. Lattimore in the community is beyond question, and the statements they make cannot for a moment be doubted. They conclusively show that Bright's disease of the kidneys is one of the most deceptive and dangerous of all diseases, that it is exceedingly common, alarmingly increasing, and that it can be cured.
